

Vasu D. Gooty, MD is an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics, Division of Pediatric Cardiology at the University of Tennessee Health Sciences in Memphis, TN. His research interests lie in advanced multimodal cardiac imaging through cardiac MRI and echocardiography in the field of congenital cardiac disease, cardio-oncology and MIS-C. He has special interest in the utility of AI in the MIS-C population and congenital cardiac diseases. He is currently involved in AI based echocardiography project for the improved detection and long-term monitoring of MIS-C patients.